We use our commitment to welfare to meet our customers' wishes with regard to security solutions. These solutions include delivering quality products and supplying the service associated with this. With this we want to protect 1 million people in their working environment so that they can return home safe and sound.

We strive towards organizing our processes in accordance with the most recent ISO 9001 standards. Relevant European and national regulations and standards are a minimum requirement for the quality of the product.

The constant improvement of welfare performances is a permanent task for the executive board, management and staff.

Performances are tested through audits, management evaluates these and use their findings to work out improvements..
